

DADUL'S COUNTRY

Dadul Santan came in our classroom to present his life in India. We talk about his country.

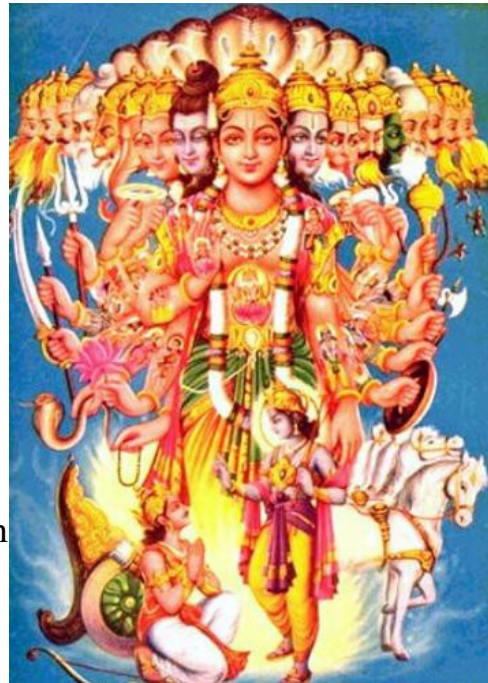

First he lived in North India. In India, there are 1, 2 billion inhabitants and there are 1652 languages among 17 officials. There are 2 principal languages: Hindi from Sanskrit. Tamul is spoken in South India. . India is also called Bharat.

diplomatic

France

The people are focus on spirituality. There are lot of God like Sikh, Jain, Shiva, Ganesh, and Buddha. At the beginning, the Bindi was a blessing it's also a third eye for protect the women: it's a religion sign. There is a conflict in the cashmere region: indeed this region is divided in 2 parts. One territory is Hindu and the other is Muslim. A country has been created so that the Muslim can practice their own cult.

123RF.com
centerblog

For most people, India is inactive to far and it's an exotic country. But India want to develop industries. In fact ten thousands persons a year come to Delhi to find a job.

There is a paradox in India between rich and poor. In France, the poverty chocked whereas in Indi poverty is normal, this paradox could chocked the tourist. So there is a city contrast: skyscrapers in the middle of Slameria. Big cities like Bombay and Delhi have to face rural immigration. There is a coexistence between modernity with high school and the small town where internet doesn't exist. Each state have his own government.

(Google site)

(indiablognote.com)

